

License means green light for Bay Cove

BY JANET MCQUEEN

It's full speed ahead for Bay Cove Casino, the proud owner of the Coast's first dockside gaming license.

The State Gaming Commission approved Mardi Gras Casino Corporation's application Wednesday around noon, clearing the final hurdle in the long road to becoming a reality.

"We have all systems on go," said former owner Charles Lambert, speaking on behalf of Mardi Gras Casino Corp. president Marlon Torguson who was in Jackson. Lambert remains with the company during the transition of ownership.

"We are bringing the vessel in, and will begin work in the interior. We are using Coastal craftsmen, keeping our commitment to hire local people," said Lambert.

Bay Cove's target date for opening is Labor Day weekend. "Although it will be extremely difficult, we will work overtime to try to achieve that goal," he said.

"It is fantastic," was the reaction Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre. "We have waited so long. Now we are on the way to developing a quality attraction that we can all be proud of."

"There will be great benefits for the city and for the state.

"Since this is the first license issued on the Coast, I think there is an excellent opportunity for us to be first to begin operating," he said.

The Hancock County Tourism and Gaming Association president Jim Henrie said, "This is the beginning of wonderful things to come for Hancock County. We are on the threshold of some good times, and this is the start."

"We have worked so hard toward this end... jobs for our citizens."

Chamber of Commerce president Basil Kennedy expressed, "I am excited to hear the news, and wish Bay Cove the very best in their venture."

Brown and Mitchell Engineers are completing a survey on Phase 1 parking area, said Lambert. "Now that we are annexed into the city, we are preparing for the extension of the access road into the development."

Lambert, who has guided Bay Cove through the planning stages, was confident the license would be in hand. "We have demonstrated on many occasions that we meet all qualifications."

"It will make a great resort, and I look for a big spinoff effect on the community's economy."

Sales tax bill passes

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

State Senator Vic Frankiewicz reported Wednesday afternoon the passage of Senate Bill 3120.

The House voted in approval of the conference report version prior to lunch Wednesday and moved it on to the Senate, Representative J.P. Compretta stated.

Now the bill must be presented to Governor Kirk Fordice, who has stated he shall veto any tax increase.

Both Compretta and Frankiewicz expressed satisfaction with the conference version, saying not only does the bill address education needs but it mandates a reduction in property taxes.

According to the two legislators, the bill:

—mandates $30 million of the monies raised per year be sent back to the local school districts to be applied directly to reduce local property taxes;

—reduces the current annual seven-percent allowable school millage increase to two percent and sets the limit at five-percent from the present 10 percent before public approval is required;

—mandates a 10-percent reduction in the size of the state employee work force;

—mandates reductions in education administration which includes central office expenditures;

—mandates $25 million be placed in a Rainy Day Fund, which is the state's reserve fund;

—cancels the present allowable reduction of the previous year's state income from current year's income returns, applicable only when returns —mandates programs in school de-regulation when districts excel to higher levels of accreditation;

—mandates programs for measuring school performance comparable to national levels;

Local gatherings observe National Day of Prayer

BY TRACI BONNEY

Thursday, May 7, has been proclaimed by President George Bush and affirmed for Mississippi by Governor Kirk Fordice as the annual National Day of Prayer.

The National Day of Prayer, a custom for many years now, is traditionally proclaimed as the first Thursday in May.

A grassroots effort to encourage local participation has emerged. Called Meet at City Hall by its founders in Tupelo, the effort strives to have people do as the name implies: meet at their local city hall for 20 minutes of prayer from 12:20 to 12:40 p.m. May 7.

In Hancock County, the City of Waveland is holding a service at its City Hall with Rev. Jeff Reed of Power House of Deliverance as host, while the county chapter of Women's Aglow will hold a prayer session at the Bay St. Louis City Hall. The Waveland board of aldermen and Bay St. Louis City Council both have proclaimed May 7 as the National Day of Prayer and have approved these meetings.

Pastors, clergy and the public are invited to attend either prayer session.

In a recent press release, the Meet at City Hall organizers in Tupelo urged those attending their local gatherings to pray

Waveland holds funds for Central Avenue repairs

The Waveland Board of Aldermen approved all but 10 percent of final payment Wednesday on a sewer improvement project completed last fall.

Mike Barnes, city utilities superintendent, reported G. Dale Smith Construction Company met all contract obligations and final payment should be made.

According to Barnes, Smith completed all but a few items last October on a Central Avenue sewer project. Following completion of the job, problems arose with the settling of a replaced section of the road.

Barnes commented the cement settling is from a localized soil erosion problem unique to the area. In addition, cars have been discovered to have run over the sections both times after it was poured, road blocks and all. "We can't blame Smith for that," he said.

Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman stated the city should retain the entire $51,368 final

Altrusa to celebrate 75 years

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Altrusa women of Bay St. Louis and Waveland will celebrate the service club's 75th anniversary this month.

The Bay-Waveland chapter will welcome Altrusa members from Gulfport, Biloxi, Baton Rouge and Mobile to a spring workshop on May 2.

Time will be spent exchanging ideas for future community projects and reviewing the club's basic philosophic goals.

Altrusans locally will celebrate again this year when the chapter marks its own 20 years of service in September.

Founding members Jeannette Purchner, Hazel McCreery and Princess Fahey recalled the club's early days with fond memories.

"While working in the Gulfport area," Princess Fahey reported, I had been invited to attend an Altrusa meeting. I thought this would be a good club for Bay St. Louis."

Fahey introduced the club to a group of local women, and the Bay St. Louis-Waveland chapter began work with 25 members.

In 1917, Mamie L. Bass of Nashville, Tenn., came up with the idea for an all-women's professional organization in the model of the then, all-male Rotary Club.

Purchner stated, "The story goes, Bass became interested in community involvement after watching and hearing of her brother's involvement with the local Rotary Club."

Altrusa, derived from 'altruism', is devoted to the interests of others. Drawing upon the leadership abilities of its members, it seeks out and attempts to meet the needs of the community.

Potential Altrusa members are invited through member recommendations and accepted by membership vote.

Each club classifies members according to profession, limiting itself to one representative from a specific business or field.

who are outstanding in the community," McCreery commented.

"Many women have the impression that we are a social club, but once they realize we are strictly a service club, and that a lot of work is required, they lose interest."

"Of course," Purchner added, "many women have been interested in participating, but find it difficult to give the time, between work and family obligations."

The women recalled one of the first projects adopted by the local Altrusa women.

"We used to go to the old jail," McCreery explained, "and bring the juvenile offenders personal items, such as toothbrushes and other necessities."

"I remember we used to wash sheets for them, too," Fahey interjected.

"Yes," McCreery answered laughingly, "we took turns washing them."

It was this involvement with juveniles that prompted the club to become involved in the Youth Court Building Fund. They solicited donations and contributed to the account.

All monies raised must be spent on projects, Purchner stated. Any materials used or expenses incurred by the club must be paid from dues and not project funds.

Altrusa, the women stated, primarily tries to address the needs of women attempting to better their lives. The club seeks women who may need further training to qualify for employment, re-training to move to a skilled occupation, equipment to start a business, or personal rehabilitation.

An applicant must have plans to move into the labor market, into a new labor market or become self-employed within one year.

The emphasis is on vocational aid.

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland Altrusa Club has assisted many local women through the past 20 years.

They donate funds to the Gulf

Coast Women's Center, which assists battered and abused women and their children; and contribute to the Sheriff's Boys and Girls Funds, the Hancock County Food Pantry and Special Olympics yearly.

Local residents have been treated in the past to performances by the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony, sponsored by the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Altrusa Club.

The club presently has approximately 25 members who meet twice a month.

Today, Altrusa claims an international status. It has more than 17,000 members in over 500 clubs spanning 13 countries.

Elusive peacocks cause stir in Bay

BY T. H. (DOC) TOUPS

Bay St. Louis received a pair of unexpected visitors over the weekend—peacocks! On Sunday, area residents called to report the birds had been sighted on De Montluzin Street. They were seen to cross St. George and Carroll streets before disappearing.

Their next fowl deed was to cross Hwy. 90 and explore new potential nesting sites. Boardman Avenue resident Mrs. Ella Netto called the Echo on Monday to report the birds were roosting in her back yard.

According to Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil, Animal Warden Larry Dahl was dispatched to capture the birds. He succeeded in securing one of the animals, but the other escaped.

The peacocks seemed to be domesticated and displayed little fear of humans. According to McNeil, the captured bird will be kept for five days and then donated to a zoo. Owners are invited to contact the BSL Police Department at 467-9221.

City attorney Lucien Gex advised the board to retain part of the payment, saying, "If you hold back a $51,000 payment for a dip in the road and we go to court, we will lose."

A motion by Ward 3 Alderman Curtis P. "Phil" Colson to retain 10 percent of the payment passed.

Hancock County Humane Society President Thyla Rogers requested an "immediate vote to begin renovation of the civic center and...re-instate the people that make America great."

The board approved payment of $100 to the Mississippi Gulf Coast Crime Commission to help sponsor an educational seminar.

In other business the board approved:

—the docket;
—authorization for Debbie Conravy and Mike Barnes to attend a PERS seminar in Gulfport May 14;

—and abandonment of a portion of city right of way needed by a resident for title clearance. Gex explained, the house was built over 40 years ago and current surveys revealed it was overlapping onto city property.

a five-year plan for encouragement of community involvement in education; —and grants authority for development of pilot programs in grades 1-3 which address developmental progress and not age classifications.

Frankiewicz commented, "There are major, big league structural changes being addressed in this bill which restructures the way Mississippi does business."

He added that the Senate vote was 42-10 in approval of the bill. "If the governor vetoes the bill, I feel the Senate will be able to override the veto a bit easier than the House, where the vote was tighter."

Compretta reported the vote in the House to be 82 in approval, 37 not in approval and three abstaining.

Removed from the bill were proposals for the elimination of the three-percent tax on soft drink bottlers; taxation of newspapers; car tag reductions through increased taxation on new automobile purchases.

Frankiewicz added that a special committee has been assigned to formulate a plan for car tag reduction and report back to the Legislature by January of 1993.

Exchange Club members have been very busy for the past weeks gathering antiques, arts, professional services, surprise celebrity items and more for tomorrow night's Auction.

A special item will be a Randy Travis 45 record signed by the artist, and it has been given a special frame.

Activities will begin with a preview and refreshments at 6:30 p.m. followed by the Auction at 7 p.m. at the Civic Center on Longfellow Road.

All proceeds from the Auction will go towards the prevention of child abuse.

This will be the third such event sponsored by the Exchange Club of Hancock County, and I am hoping it will be very successful.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Child abuse prevention the goal of Exchange Clubs

Dear Editor:

Despite ongoing coverage by major magazines and newspapers, child abuse remains a serious and growing problem.

Each year, more than two million suspected cases of child abuse and neglect are reported. Many more are unreported. Locally, 1,800 reports were made during 1991.

That's why it is important for citizens to know everyone can do something to help prevent child abuse. Know the warning signs and how to report a suspected case of child abuse and/or neglect. Contribute your time to organizations involved in preventing abuse.

Child abuse prevention is the national project of the Exchange Clubs. This year marks the 13th anniversary of the National Exchange Club Foundation for the Prevention of Child Abuse, which coordinates a network of 64 Exchange Club Child Abuse Prevention Centers in 30 states and Puerto Rico.

Exchange Club Centers help families break the cycle of child abuse through the use of volunteer parent aides. They work directly with families in their own homes to demonstrate proper parenting skills, suggest alternate coping methods and discipline techniques, and become much needed friends.

Locally, the Exchange Club of Hancock County supports The Family Child Center by raising funds through our annual auction, cut-a-thon, draw-down and various other projects.

We urge readers to use the month of April, Child Abuse Prevention Month to learn more about the problem and get actively involved in efforts to prevent it.

Children are too great a gift to abuse.

Sincerely,
Julie Cannon

Waveland to observe National Day of Prayer

Dear Editor,

In 1952 Congress passed a law calling upon each President to set aside an appropriate day as the National Day of Prayer.

In 1988 President Reagan signed a bill which passed unanimously through Congress making the first Thursday of May the National Day of Prayer.

This Past Wednesday at the City Council meeting, the City of Waveland was asked to set this day for our local observance by giving public notice designating the grounds in front of City Hall available for meeting to pray at noon.

nating the grounds in front of City Hall available for meeting to pray at noon.

Each year a different clergyman will be invited to host the gathering. This year Rev. Jeff Reed of the Powerhouse of Deliverance has been asked to host.

See you at City Hall, May 7, at noon.

Yours Truly,

Civil Service, railroad retirees are penalized

Dear Editor:

I applaud the Older Americans Act programs regarding Social Security benefits highlighted by Rep. Gene Taylor in his "In Congress" column featured in the Sea Coast Echo dated April 23, 1992.

However, I am disappointed that nothing is being done to correct an injustice to Federal Civil Service retirees.

If you receive a Federal Civil Service pension, your Social Security benefits are reduced by one-third.

Congress should repeal this discriminatory law. No other group of retirees is penalized by this law except railroad retirees.

I urge all Federal Civil Service and railroad retirees to write their senators and congressmen to correct this blaring injustice.

Sincerely,
Nicholas T. Haas Jr.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Governor uses influence to kill bill in committee

The Mississippi House has ducked what was about to become a head-on confrontation with Gov. Kirk Fordice over shifting the State Surplus Property agency from the governor's control to State Auditor Steve Patterson.

Both branches of the Legislature had passed the bill giving the surplus property office to the Auditor, a move that Patterson said would save the state at least $100,000 a year since he already has a property division under his office which could handle the work.

Only four of the 52 senators had voted against it when the measure originally cleared the Senate in mid-March. Over in the House, the bill had won approval by a vote of 86-34 on April 9, even after the Fordice Administration had tried to muster opposition to the measure.

Rep. Charlie Capps, of Cleveland, the House Appropriations chairman who handled the bill, said it made sense to him that Patterson could save the state money by operating the agency since most of the personnel he would need were already on board. Besides, Capps said, many other states have surplus property under the state auditor.

Capps knew that Fordice didn't like the bill, and probably was going to veto it. Significantly, it had passed both branches of the Legislature by more than the two-thirds vote needed to override a veto.

What had not come into focus initially were some political facts of life: Not only would Fordice lose 19 jobs under his command in the existing Surplus Property staff, but Fordice had already filled the job of heading the agency with a guy who had come in from Alabama and been a fund-raiser for Fordice's gubernatorial campaign last year.

Of course, Fordice had come into office proclaiming he was not a politician and such matters as political patronage didn't even occur to him. He was there to "fix" a broken-down state government and make it run for less money.

When this writer pointed out there may be some inconsistencies in Fordice's asserted non-politician posture and his opposition to transferring the surplus property agency to the state auditor, and that it contained a smidgen of patronage protection, it struck a nerve with the Fordice people.

Andy Taggart, Fordice's administrative chief of staff, promptly bombarded members of the House last week with a memorandum discounting the claim that transfer of the agency could save the state $100,000 and boasting that the ex-campaign fund-raiser for Fordice had remarkably already saved the state $275,000 in two months of running the surplus property office.

There was no mention of special qualifications or expertise of the Fordice appointee to preside over handling millions of dollars in surplus property. But what this writer had learned of his background indicated he has little business experience other than political fund-raising.

Fordice called in Capps and asked him to reconsider the bill, which was held over on the House calendar under a technical motion, and have it killed. Capps told him the bill had gone too far to do that, and suggested that Fordice go ahead and veto it and take his chances that he would not be overridden.

But before the end of the week, it became evident that the Fordice forces had "worked the floor" as they say in legislative parlance, to get the bill reconsidered by the House. Recognizing that, Capps decided not to reopen a floor fight and moved to send the measure back to committee, where it will die a quiet death.

Thus the first hand-to-hand confrontation between the Legislature and Fordice on a veto was averted. "We'll have plenty others, don't worry about that," the gray-haired veteran Capps declared.

Still, the strange part is why Fordice was so adamant to keep a tiny agency like surplus property under his control. No politics involved, of course.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Social Security must remain

Hearing from South Mississippians on legislative matters which impact our daily lives makes my job a lot easier. From the amount of input I have received in recent months I would have to agree with many South Mississippians that one of our nation's most critical issues is the future of our Social Security System.

When Social Security was implemented, there were 16 working Americans for every retiree. In the year 2020, there will be 1.2 working Americans for every retiree. Due to this decreasing ratio of contributors to retirees, we need to put this money aside now to insure that we will have a financially stable program tomorrow.

Although there are no plans to reduce social security this year, you may rest assured that I will work to see that the social security program remains strong and is not cut.

In addition, I strongly support taking the Social Security Trust off budget and for using the Trust as its original intention — for Social Security Benefits. I will do everything within my jurisdiction to ensure that we will have a safe and sound Social Security System well into the next century. We should not play politics with the security of our retired citizens.

Moreover, I support full cost-of-living adjustments for our American veterans, veteran widows, civil service retirees and social security recipients. I will do everything within my means to preserve COLAs and fight Medicare cuts when they are proposed before the committees of which I am a member or on the House floor.

As I am sure many South Mississippians are aware, the President's Fiscal Year 1993 budget request contained a "technical improvement in the Budget Enforcement Act" provision that would remove the protection given COLAs against sequestration.

Gramm-Rudman cuts are often referred to as sequestration. The Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act mandates that each year the budget may not have a deficit greater than a specific amount. If the deficit is higher than that amount, then automatic across-the-board cuts take effect in almost every government program.

You will be pleased to know that the President's budget proposal for fiscal year 1993 was rejected by the House of Representatives by a vote of 42-370 on March 4.

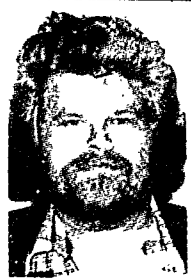

I wholeheartedly believe that it is unfair for the Administration to break its promise to federal civilian and military retirees who so faithfully chose to serve our nation. You can rest assured that I will continue to work to see that this proposal is not passed.

"Sure do. Children have enough problems to worry about and education would remove a lot of their worry about sex."

"Mandatory, that's kind of a touchy question. I think it's up to the parents. Possibly the schools could offer it on a voluntary basis for a period of time and see what sort of participation it receives."

"No, that's something the parents ought to teach them. Parents ought to have more brass and sit down and talk with them young ones, if they did the schools wouldn't have to."

Ordinance may allow La. fishermen to land undersize catch in state

Recreational fishermen, fishing in a neighboring state and holding a valid recreational fishing license from that state, may be allowed to land undersize spotted seatrout (speckled trout) and red drum (redfish) in Mississippi, if a proposed ordinance is finally adopted. The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks voted Monday to adopt a notice of intent to allow anglers to land 12-inch speckled trout and 16-inch redfish in Mississippi, providing the size of the fish meet the legal requirements of the state in which they were caught.

This action is only a notice of intent to adopt the ordinance. The proposal will go to the Secretary of State's office where it will be held for a 30-day public comment period.

Should the proposal be finally adopted, it will be effective 30 days after the adoption. The proposal was a compromise drafted during a workshop sponsored by the DWFP Advisory Council, and attended by representatives from Shoreline Fishermen's Coalition, Gulf Coast Seafood Producers and Consumers Association and the Gulf Coast Conservation Association.

The legal size limits in Mississippi waters are 14 inches for speckled trout and 22 inches for redfish. Presently, law prohibits the possession of undersize speckled trout and redfish in Mississippi, even if they are caught legally in adjoining states.

While fishing in Mississippi waters, fishermen must abide by Mississippi length requirements.

Tom Van Devender, Bureau of Marine Resources chief of saltwater fisheries, said the proposal would require fishermen to have a valid fishing license issued from the state in which the fish were caught.

The proposed ordinance, if adopted, will apply only to fishermen who are returning from a fishing trip in a neighboring state. If anglers fish in Mississippi waters on the way to or returning from a neighboring state, all fish landed must meet Mississippi length requirements.

Van Devender said a public hearing on the issue will be scheduled in May.

The BMR Advisory Committee recommended to the commission that the public hearing also include discussion on advisory committee proposals to allow fishermen to take five undersize speckle trout and to ban the use of treble hooks while using live or dead bait.

The BMR Advisory Council is a group of representatives from several marine resource user groups. The council is appointed by Commissioner Henry Hillman.

The purpose of the advisory council is to make recommendations to the BMR and the commission. The council has no policy-making or law-enforcement powers.

Tourism, Gaming Association elects '93 board, officers

The Hancock County Tourism and Gaming Association (T & G), an organization of more than 200 Hancock County business owners and individuals—recently elected officers and board of directors for 1992-93.

Jim Henrie, a Bay St. Louis realtor and business owner, was elected president. Bay business owner Donald Saucier was elected vice-president, and Jake Jacobs and Pat Yarborough were elected treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Elected to the board of directors were John Auderer, Nick Breazeale, Allyson L. Keller, William R. Lady and Norma E. Marrs.

The T & G was formed in late 1990, by a small group of businessmen and women, and has grown to today's 20 members. The association was established to help facilitate and promote the gaming and tourism industries following voter approval in December 1990.

Goals and objectives are to promote economic development and the creation of new jobs through increased tourism-related development.

Henrie said, "This should be a very positive year for Hancock County and the Tourism & Gaming Association. Most of the hard times are behind us."

"This is the year that the casinos will begin operation, resulting in dramatically increased tourism and increased collateral industry development, and this spells j-o-b-s. Now is the time for our community to unite and expend our energies toward the realization of these benefits that we've all worked so hard to obtain."

"The entire Mississippi Gulf Coast is no doubt on the threshold of economic prosper-ty in spite of national trends to the contrary. Our Coast can, again, become America's Riviera," he added.

The T & G has received commitments from gaming industry officials that local citizens and businesses will be afforded the first opportunities for employment and services. For more information regarding the Hancock County Tourism & Gaming Association, or information on membership, contact Jake Jacobs, 467-4078.

The T & G meets regularly on the second Thursday of each month at 8:00 A.M. at the Waveland Resort Inn.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Horse trainers say that there's really no one-and-only proven formula for preparing a horse for the Kentucky Derby. But, you may be sure that hosts and hostesses here on the Gulf Coast, as well as those in Lexington, Kentucky, are making use of their own proven formulas for festive Derby Day gatherings this Saturday!

Mint Juleps and baked Kentucky ham are considered essential, of course, in the bluegrass country of Kentucky; but along our Coast, we serve our own specialties as well. Whether you're in Lexington or at someone's home here on the Gulf Coast, the point is to have a fun time, and, of course, to pick the winning horse who'll wear that Necklace of Roses, come Saturday!

Since "The Race" is run in the afternoon, most parties start in the late morning and work up to the grand finale. Some opt for a "sitting and sipping and snacking" gathering, followed by a buffet, at which losers can weep into their dwindling Juleps, while winners exult with good appetites.

Others prefer the traditional Derby Day Brunch, complete with the obligatory baked ham (at least in Lexington) or whatever ham combinations they choose.

As for the Mint Julep, the subject of the recipe is as explosive as that of the Ole Miss-LSU game or the "only" way to cook Southern fried chicken or one's ancestors or whatever!

My grandfathers, gentlemen of the Old South, were at most times in agreement on such relatively minor matters as the younger generation and the state of the country and the world and so on; but they somewhat acrimoniously parted company and grew rather vociferous over their juleps.

You see, Grandfather Barrett insisted that the mint be crushed, while Grandfather Daly (you wonder whence my Irish temper comes?) considered this a desecration, scarcely less abominable than referring to the "War Between the States" as the "Civil War" although both agreed that there "was nothing civil about it, Suh."

To many, Paradise is almost as close as sitting on porch or patio—or, if you must, in air-conditioned rooms—sipping a frosty julep.

So, I'll just give you a long-favored recipe; the classic recipe, some say, from no less an authority than the late Irvin S. Cobb, the famed Kentucky humorist, who was often heard to observe that, "He who has not tasted a Mint Julep has lived in vain." Here's:

COBB'S CLASSIC JULEP

6 sprigs freshly-picked young mint

Kentucky Bourbon whiskey as your tolerance advises (better make that one jigger for me)

Finely cracked and crushed ice

2 Tblsp. water

1 lump sugar

This is for just one julep, of course. You may make them in quantity, but purists insist that they be made one by one. At any rate, crush three of the mint sprigs in the bottom of a glass or cup with a silver or wooden muddler. Rub the mint all around the inside of the glass or cup, and discard any remains.

Fill the glass or cup with the crushed ice and slowly pour in the bourbon (Cobb advised 3 ounces!) I find one or at most

Friendship House

GCMH sponsors clubhouse for mentally ill residents

Gulf Coast Mental Health Center will formally open a new psychosocial rehabilitation clubhouse in Waveland at an open house and ribbon-cutting on Friday, May 1.

The public is invited to tour the new facility at 2050 Waveland Avenue in Our Shopping Center from noon until 1:30 p.m. The ribbon-cutting ceremony is scheduled for 12:15 p.m.

The new clubhouse, to be known as Friendship House, will serve men and women in Hancock County who have faced the difficulties associated with serious mental illness. Similar programs, sponsored by Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, are available in Harrison and Pearl River counties at Venture House in Gulfport and Upward Bound in Picayune.

The clubhouse programs, which are self-governed, provide supportive and esteem-building surroundings where members learn or re-learn socialization skills and participate in rehabilitative units to enhance their potential for outside employment.

Friendship House is staffed by Ruth Byrd, program coordinator, and Denese Bloom, program assistant.

(Copyright, 1992, Katharine D. M. Caire)

two ounces quite potent! Add the water into which you've dissolved the sugar, but do not stir; just let the whiskey trickle to the bottom of the glass or cup all by itself. Place 2 or 3 sprigs of mint in the mouth of the glass or cup, and happily sip! Purists frost the cup or glass before making the juleps.

Panama Day

Waveland Elementary welcomes Miss Panama in cultural exchange program

Faculty, staff, parents, students and friends of Waveland Elementary School recently celebrated their second annual "Panama Day."

Students in grades K-3 are in the second year of a cultural exchange program with students in Panama City, Republic of Panama. Principal James Baldree explained Waveland Elementary students are exchanging letters, newspapers, photographs, student art and other information about the community and country for similar information about the Republic of Panama.

"In the process, our students are learning a lot about the people of Panama, the Panamanian government, their culture, their art, etc." stated Baldree.

The cultural exchange is made possible through the support and assistance of Mrs. Jeanne del Castillo and her employer, McDermott International. Mrs. del Castillo, a Waveland resident, is the ex-consul general of the Republic of Panama and the present administrator of vessel documentation and records manager of the McDermott Domiciliary Office in Panama.

Letters and information are assembled and packaged at the Waveland School and are transported by McDermott to Mrs. del Castillo's office in Panama where her secretary, Jannell Cosca receives the materials and distributes it to local schools. Return mail is forwarded back to Waveland by the same system.

Miss Cosca is the current "Miss Panama" and has visited Waveland Elementary twice this year to meet and instruct the students. She has been named an honorary citizen of both Bay St. Louis and Waveland by Mayors Eddie Favre and Stella Frlot. On each visit, she has received a warm reception.

Waveland Elementary School is seeking to expand its cultural Exchange Program to include other countries and other areas of the United States. Anyone with knowledge of potential contacts may contact the school at 467-6630.

Panama art

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Duffie of Bay St. Louis display the art and pottery of Panama. Exhibits ranged from pre-Columbian to modern.

Indian molas

Miss Panama Jannell Cosca and Mrs. Jeanne del Castillo of McDermott International explain the molas, crafts and jewelry created by the San Blas Indians of the Republic of Panama.

Hostesses

Mrs. Genevieve Cole, left, and Mrs. Clara Arnold of the Lions Club introduce Miss Panama Jannell Cosca to Waveland Elementary students while serving as hostesses at 'Panama Day.'

Learn to decode nutrition labels

Do you want to eat better, lose weight or be healthier? Do you know a lot about nutrition principles, but are not sure how to make them work with your lifestyle? Well, you're not alone. One major key to practicing healthy eating is learning to interpret food labels.

A no-nonsense program on decoding nutrition labels will be held Tuesday, May 12, 9:30 a.m. in the home economist office in the Human Services building. The program will be repeated at 6:30 p.m. if there is interest. Call 467-5456 to sign up for the morning or evening class. Nancy Freeman, Harrison County Home Economist, will be the instructor.

Riviera Productions holds auditions

Auditions for Riviera Productions' "George M" will be Thursday, April 30, Sunday, May 3, and call-backs Monday, May 4, all at 7 p.m., at Central Elementary School, just off Pass Road in Gulfport, across from Bert Allen.

George M will be presented July 17, 18 and 19 at the Saenger Theatre in Biloxi. Rick Bullock will be the director.

There are 20-25 parts for adults of all ages.

Those trying out should bring their own music and be prepared to sing and dance.

Rocks capture fifth track title

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

The St. Stanislaus High School track team overcame a 13-point deficit last week to claim the Division 8 4A title.

"Every point counts," Coach Larry Ramsey stated of the entire team's effort to win the division title.

Ramsey explained, though some boys excelled in certain events, every point accumulated by every participant is responsible for the team's victory.

During the second day of the division meet and going into the final 10 events, SSC trailed St. Martin, 81-68.

In the first of the 10 events, St. Martin added three points to their lead, then the floodgates opened.

Mickey Quinlan and Trent Terrell took first and second place, respectively in the 100-meter dash.

These wins were followed by a first place finish by Brandon Rhodes, Mike Lee, Quinlan and Terrell in the 800-meter relay.

Scott Black continued the SSC onslaught by taking second in the 1600-meter run.

By now the lead had changed hands and the Rocks were in the lead to stay, but this did not dampen the intensity of the athletes.

The same relay quartet garnered first again, this time in the 400-meter event. This was followed by a 1-4 finish by Neil Heitzman and Claudio Rivero in the 400-meter dash.

The rest of the evening went much the same way. The final four events saw a second/fourth place finish by Bryce Gex and Lloyd Boudreaux in the 300-meter hurdles; a second/third combo by Drew Scafile and Chris Kehoe in the 800-meter run; and a first/fourth place finish by Terrell and Quinlan in the 200-meter dash.

Jason Parker, N. Heitzman,

Scafile and Lee, topped off the evening with a first place in the 1600-meter relay.

The Rocks finished with 183 points followed by D'Iberville with 131 and St. Martin with 129.

In addition to winning SSC set division records in the high jump - Vince Moran topping 6'5"; 400-meter dash - N. Heitzman with a 52.3 time; and the 800-meter relay - Rhodes, Lee, Quinlan and Terrell with a 1:32.66 time.

Gex added two school records in the 110-meter hurdles with 16.7 and the 300-meter hurdles with 42.07.

Other events in which SSC team member placed and added to the team's overall victory were: 3200-meter run - Kehoe, second place and Gilly Chamberlain, fourth place; shot put - Cameron Little, second place and Brett Heitzman fourth place; discus - Marc Cina, third place and Peter Martinez, seventh place; long jump - Gex, second and N. Heitzman, seventh place; triple jump - Collins Hymel, fourth place and Heath Martinsen, sixth place; pole vault - Kevin McKnight, third place and Scott Black, sixth place; and high jump - Parker, sixth place.

Thirteen members of the team qualified for the South State meet, which will be held this Saturday in D'Iberville.

The Rock-A-Chaws are coached by Larry Ramsey, sprints; Andy Kivlan, distance, and Ken Lyons, field events.

HHS girls track team takes division championship and advances to South Mississippi State meet

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
Hancock High School's girls track team travels to D'Iberville Saturday to compete in the South Mississippi Class 4-A meet after claiming the District Championship last week.

Cochran Alan Dedeaux stated, "There isn't one effort wasted by on a girl on the team that doesn't count towards the final victory."

"The division victory belongs to the girls who ran third and fourth, as well as those who ran first and second. It was all of their efforts which helped to push the team over the top and win."

He added each team member contributes towards a track victory by accumulation of points, which affects the entire team's score.

During the two-day event, held last week at HHS, the Hancock girls trailed D'Iberville 44-31 after completion of the 3200-meter run.

In the second-to-last event, the 200-meter dash, freshman Sandra Blakeley and sophomore Jennifer Richard flew to a 1-2 finish.

Blakeley recorded a winning time of 27.57, just under the division record of 27.55 set in 1989 by Camille Minor of George County.

Hancock members Janice Newkirk, Nicole Staten, Blakeley and Richard claimed first place in both the 400-meter (53.88) and 800-meter (1:55.01) relays.

Relay members freshman Rasa Lammond, junior Shannon Cruso, Staten and Richard completed the HHS relay sweep at 4:41.7 for first place in the 1600-meter run.

Sophomore Catherine Hay leaped to first place in the 100-meter hurdles at 18.31; second place in the 300-meter low hurdles at 55.52 and added a fourth place win in the long jump.

Freshman Staten claimed top place for the 100-meter dash at 13.54 with fellow teammate Blakeley on her heels, claiming second at 13.63.

Cruso took second place in the 400-meter dash at 1:08. Freshman Chasity Head grabbed a fourth place win for HHS in both the 800-meter and 1600-meter runs, as freshman Christi Arcement contributed a sixth place standing in the 1600-meter run.

Junior Sarah Sones placed third in the high jump, while Staten handed over a fourth place standing in the event.

Allana Williams claimed third place in shot put and fourth place in discus events.

HHS totaled 135 points to D'Iberville's 123, and captured its first girls division title since 1990.

Dedeaux said everyone with a first and second place win moves on to compete in the South State Meet which will begin at 1:30 p.m.

The top four finishers will go on to State championship events.

HHS girls track is coached by Dedeaux and assistant track coach Tim Favre.

Exchange Club's Fun Rais'n Auction is tomorrow

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The Exchange Club of Hancock County has assembled a multitude of items for auction at Friday's fund-raiser at the Hancock County Civic Center.

According to club president Julie Cannon, there will be something for everyone.

For the art collector, there will be works by Alice Moseley, Jeanne Kruse Warner, Jean Hammett, Andrea Loianco, Kat Fitzpatrick, Nadine Stamm, Bob Songy and Ruth Thompson.

Household items include a microwave oven, portable television, and ceiling fan. Book lovers will want to bid on a year's worth of best sellers, donated by Bookends.

The outdoorsman will want to check out a canoe and windsurfer, and the adventurous may bid on a helicopter ride.

Numerous restaurants have donated meals and the Waveland Resort Inn offers a night in the jacuzzi suite.

Celebrity items include a framed record and a sweatshirt, both signed by Country/Western star Randy Travis. Other autographed items include The Color Purple signed by Whoopie Goldberg; compact discs, cassettes and posters signed by Pete Fountain; and bestseller The Pelican Brief signed by John Grisham.

Autographed items from Robert Redford, Bob Hope, Archie Manning, Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf and Arnold Palmer will go to the highest bidders, said Cannon.

Miscellaneous items include an executive desk, clothes, antiques, 20 semi-precious stones and much more.

Admission to the auction is free, and auctioneer Col. Bob Glover has donated his time for the event. Drawings for door prizes will be held throughout the night.

Preview of items begins at 6:30, with the live auction at 7.

The primary focus of the Exchange Club, which has 45 members locally, is the prevention of child abuse. Much of the proceeds from Friday's auction will go to the Family Child Center of Gulfport, which also serves Hancock County, said Cannon.

Kelsey Cannon offers to the highest bidder one of the many semi-precious stones to be auctioned. The stones are valued between $200 and $400. Among them are citrines, garnets, emeralds, amethysts, blue topaz and opals.

In addition to supporting various community projects, the Exchange Club sponsors Youth of the Month Awards and maintains a flag program city-wide on all patriotic holidays.

For more information, call Cannon at 467-2323, Jeannie Deen at 467-9296 or Pat Throop at 452-2628.

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The atrium of the Days Inn at Diamondhead will be transformed into an 18-hole putting course Friday, May 1 for the second annual Indoor Golf Tournament to benefit the American Cancer Society.

over Mississippi, including seven from the Coast.

She was picked as one of five finalists and delivered from memory a 100-word essay on her volunteer work. The essay was judged for both content and delivery.

Describing scenes in both Antigua, West Indies, and Mississippi, Bennett said, "Who are these people? They are a unique and wonderful few that have touched my life deeply as they allowed me to help... I gave them company and cold hands to warm, and they blessed me richly."

Bennett belongs to OLA's Campus Ministry and visits Hotel Reed Nursing Home in Bay St. Louis frequently. She is the daughter of Lee and Diane Bennett of Diamondhead. Her director for the contest was Cheryl Snow.

Humane Society sponsors children's poster contest

The Hancock County Humane Society is sponsoring a poster contest in celebration of "Be Kind to Animals Week," May 3-9.

This contest will be held in Hancock County elementary schools, and grades 1-6 will be participating.

NAACP president, Elaine Barnes, Sheriff Ronnie Peterson and Dr. James Mahler, DVM of Bay St. Louis will judge the final category entries for first prize, a $100 savings bond; second prize, a $50 savings bond; and third prize, a $25 savings bond, all donated by Peoples Bank.

Prizes will be awarded Friday, May 8.

Donations from Markel Lumbar Company, Edmond Fahey and Rosemary Malandra will help to defray some of the expenses.

"We ask the parents of these children to encourage discussion on the proper and humane treatment of animals. The Humane Society feels that compassion must not be limited to mankind, but we must embrace all living creatures," said president Thyla Rogers.

St. Clare students honored

Garziano awarded scholarship

Dori Richelle Garziano of Pass Christian High School was chosen recently as the 1992 recipient of the $1,000 Waveland Wal-Mart Foundation community scholarship, according to a Wal-Mart press release.

Garziano plans to attend the University of Southern Mississippi.

The two alternates selected were Keiu-Anh Tran of PCHS, who plans to attend Mississippi State University, and Victoria D. Israel of Hancock High School, who also plans to attend MSU.

The scholarship is awarded primarily according to academic performance, school and community involvement, and financial need.

The scholarship judges this year included Mrs. Jerry Martin, district supervisor for Rep. Gene Taylor; Mrs. Mary Lee Lagarde, a retired school teacher; and State Senator Vic Frankiewicz.

The Waveland Wal-Mart Foundation community scholarship is one of more than 1,500 scholarships, totaling more than $1.5 million, being given by the Bentonville, Arkansas-based retail chain throughout its 35-state trade territory.

Carter named National Merit Finalist

Jennifer B. Carter, Our Lady Academy senior, has been named a finalist in the 1992 National Merit Scholarship

Jennifer Carter

Program. This distinction places her among the top half of one percent of American high school seniors.

The daughter of Thad and Barbara Carter, Jennifer has been president of her class the last two years and vice-president of her sophomore class.

She is treasurer of the National Honor Society, a representative of POE (Protect Our Environment) Club and a member of SADD.

Carter is also a member of the volleyball and soccer teams, quiz bowl, French National Honor Society and is on the literary magazine staff. She won a sportsmanship trophy for soccer, an academic award in advanced math, and has been nominated for the Pepsi Student of the Month for two years.

Carter attended Duke University last summer and took two undergraduate courses in biology. Planning to pursue medicine, she will attend Bowdoin University in Brunswick, Maine, in the fall and major in biology.

BHS student named state youth lobbyist

Zack Corbell, a sophomore at Bay High, along with a number of delegates from the Coast, attended the 1992 Youth Legislature Convention this month in Jackson as a lobbyist.

Zack Corbell

Corbell was one of 47 lobbyists statewide. Practical and positive ideas won him the state's Outstanding Lobbyist award, a seat on the Governor's Youth Staff, and an invitation to attend the Youth Nationals in North Carolina in June.

On April 4, Corbell and other delegates spoke with Governor Fordice at the Capitol to voice their educational concerns and dissatisfaction with budget cuts. Though the Governor seemed to sympathize with their concerns, he maintained his reform were better for the long-term success of Mississippi.

With logical and well-thought-out arguments, this group of students pointed out to Gov. Fordice the positive attributes of a well-funded education program.

Also attending the meeting from Bay High was Robin Shambach, YMCA reporter. Sponsoring the delegates was Joan Thomas, coordinator and BHS faculty member.

Corbell is the son of Pat and Van Cullifer of Waveland.
